ALBANY ACCIDENTALLY became the site of another attempt by anti-Vietnam demonstrators to stop a troop train last Thursday morning. In an effort to avert the demonstrators, Santa Fe ran the train at a later time than scheduled. When it did not arrive in Berkeley, demonstrators started hiking north on the tracks. Train and demonstrators met in Albany.

As the train approached, demonstrators sat on the tracks, arms folded and heads down. There must have been at least 20 in the group we saw. We felt like cheering when the train emitted a huge cloud of steam, scattering the sign-bearing invaders of our peaceful little city.

They were all ages—gray-haired grandmother types, mothers pulling children along, the typical sandalled, bearded troublemakers. The grandmother we saw carried a sign: "War is Insanity." We agree, but heartily disagree with their "solution."

There were many sidelights.

Albany Unwitting Victim of Attempt To Stop Troop Train on Thursday

Because recent unpleasantries in Berkeley and Emeryville prompted officials of the Santa Fe railroad to delay troop trains, Albany was the unwitting victim of a demonstration last Thursday morning by the so-called Vietnam Day Committee of Berkeley, which attempted to stop a troop train en route to the Oakland terminal for embarkation to the war zone in Vietnam.

When the train failed to appear on schedule in Berkeley Thursday morning, an estimated 300 to 400 demonstrators marched down the tracks toward Albany followed by press, radio and TV men. Unfortunately, train and demonstrators met here.

Without much advance warning, citizens of this city turned out in force to show their support of the men on the troop trains and their disgust at the invading demonstrators, who were spat upon, reviled and two arrested as they attempted to halt the train's movements.

Most Albany residents who turned out were elated because Santa Fe had worked out a steam-spouting device which quickly cleared the tracks. This did not stop the demonstrators from littering the right-of-way with leaflets addressed to "reservists and men of draft age" and which asked the young men (few of whom saw them) if they were ready to kill and die in Vietnam.

The scene as the train passed through Aibany left many shocked. Young people scrambled toward the train waving signs. Many actually managed to make contact with the train, if only temporarily. One young woman, Kathleen Lynch, 25, of Berkeley, was taken to Herrick hospital by Albany police ambulance after falling from the train at Solano and Masonic. She injured her leg.

Others injured were Ann Hallett, 22, and John Seltz of Berkeley.

Albany police arrested Isom James Donald, 26, for attempting to kick the emergency brake release on the engine, and a Richmond juvenile who struck Inspector Art Smith, while he was attempting to assist Miss Lynch. He was ordered to appear at Juvenile Hall.

Albany police pressed into service were Sgt. James McLeod, Officers Bernard Johnson, Ed Zentner, James Simmons, Robert Kratz, Archie Stirling, John Sawers, Inspector Smith and Chief Ralph Jensen.

Albany Post 292 Asked to Host State Conference

The executive committee of Albany Post 292, American Legion, has received the word from Sam Gray, commander of the Department of California, that he has awarded Albany Post the conference of all Department committees and commissions Sept. 18-19.

The conference will take place in the Albany Veterans Memorial building. Commander Gray designated LeRoy W. Holland as general chairman and manager of the conference and A. Lee Oder, State Department Executiveman to the National Department, housing chairman for the conference.

Holland and Oder are setting up the preliminaries to house and entertain visiting committeemen and commissioners from all parts of the state.

Albany post executive committee will recommend Friday to members that the post host the meeting.

Fire Truck on Display Saturday, Aug. 28

Asa special feature of Childrens Day at the Art Show and Merchants' Bazaar Saturday, Aug. 28, one of the big red trucks from Albany Fire Department will be on display at the grounds at Memorial Park.

Children have been invited to visit the fire truck and receive a Junior Fire Marshal badge from the attending real live fireman.

May Ellis Olson Business Division Head for Crusade

May Ellis Olson

May Ellis Olson has been named Albany business division chairman for this fall's United Crusade drive which will be launched Sept. 27.

The appointment was announced today by Stephen Chase, Jr., Alameda County business division chairman, who said that Mrs. Olson will be organizing committeemen to contact firms that have from one to nine employees.

Mrs. Olson, vice president of Ellis-Olson Mortuary, has been active with the Crusade drive for the past eight years. She is also a board member of the Albany YMCA, a United Crusade agency.

She is a past president of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, charter member of the Soroptimist Club, life member of the Albany Women's Club, and is active in several other civic and professional organizations.

Mrs. Olson started the project, "New Eyes for the Needy," and to date has shipped about 8,000 pairs of eye glasses to all parts of the world to those who need them.

As business chairman for the United Crusade drive, Mrs. Olson is working for the Bay Area's largest community effort. This year's goal of $15,155,885 will go to the 172 agencies that provide services to all.

COUNCIL CONDEMNS TROOP TRAIN PICKETS IN STRONG RESOLUTION

A resolution by Councilman Joe Egenberger condemning the "Vietnam Day Committee," which attempted to stop a troop train in Albany last Thursday morning, passed 4-1 at the Monday night session of Albany City Council.

Councilman Richard Clark, who voted no, said he did not necessarily reject the motion but objected to combining the right to picket peacefully with condemnation of breaking the law. He also objected to indicating which councilman voted yes, as specified by Egenberger.

Egenberger prefaced his resolution by remarking that he had read the account of the Albany demonstration (see separate story) while attending an institute in Santa Barbara last week. As he read of the way "the people supported the military forces and rejected pickets who would have stopped the movement of troops through the city, I suddenly felt a great pride and respect for our people and police," he said.

The Resolution

In essence, Egenberger's resolution stated that the citizens of Albany have reflected the finest tradition of citizen support for our nation's military forces by their overwhelming opposition to and rejection of the "peacemongers" who attempted to interfere with the orderly and proper movement of troops through the city, commends the people and the police who thwarted the irresponsible and irresolute "peacemongers," commends the troops en route on the train for their devotion to duty, their conduct and the cooperation they are providing all patriotic Americans, and specifies that an original copy of the resolution be forwarded to the commanding officer of the troops involved "to show our gratitude to him and his command and that it be signed by each member of the Council who votes in the affirmative."

(Following the Council session, Egenberger told reporters that a warmonger is for war at any price and a peacemonger is for peace at any price.)

Clark said he did not realize a vote had been taken in Albany to determine the feelings of the citizens.

Egenberger said these are trying times, that Albany citizens demonstrated their rejection of the pickets both in the press and in conversations he has had with a great number of people since his return.

"These peacemongers are detestable, execrable in their actions," Egenberger said.

Mayor Lewis Howell added, "All I have to say is, there should have been two more cars on that train and they should have stopped and picked up those boys and taken them with them."

Clark said the police department did what it had to do. When a person breaks the law, he should be arrested and should have to appear in court. Distrib-

Mayor Lewis Howell in Sharp Issue With State Health Department

Mayor Lewis M. Howell took sharp issue with Dr. Henry Murphy of the state health department during the City Council meeting Monday night during a discussion of how and by whom Albany laboratory tests shall be given.

"Albany is one of the few cities that has its own health department," Mayor Howell said, "yet every time we turn around you're trying to force us into the state health department."

He said a flat fee of $2,400, asked by the department to do lab work for the city is unreasonable.

"We feel we have a good department and we're struggling hard to maintain it and provide services to the community. I surely resent the state health department trying to force us out of business."

The question of who shall perform laboratory work for Albany arose last February, when Dr. Malcolm Merrill, state health director, informed Council that the state health department would no longer perform free lab tests after July 1.

Doctor Merrill said Albany could arrange to do its own tests or contract with the state or county health departments for $2,400 annually.

As a solution, Dr. Robert T. McMahon suggested using Albany and Alta Bates hospital plus paying a retainer to the Contra Costa county health laboratory to serve Albany plus a charge for actual services performed, if any.

Doctor Murphy, representing the state health department, informed Council Monday night that this was satisfactory, as long as Albany has a "cover" of public health services.

When asked by Councilman Joel Parker to specify what he meant by "covered," Dr. Murphy said that most hospitals are licensed to do clinical work, but that public health laboratories are more specialized. When pressed to explain, he said that public health labs are more experienced in such things as examinations for rabies, food poisoning, etc., and can handle cases in greater bulk, as in cases of mass food poisoning.

Kensington Chemist Is Honored

Dr. Donald de Fremery, chemist in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Utilization Research Laboratory in Albany, has won the Institute of American Poultry Industry Research Award.

The award, for creative research in the field of poultry and egg products technology, includes $1,000 and a plaque. It was presented at the recent annual meeting of the Poultry Science Association in Athens, Ga.

In his research Dr. de Fremery discovered significant relationships between post-mortem changes in poultry muscle and tenderness in the cooked meat. He found that a high rate of breakdown of glycogen (muscle "starch") results in muscle toughness, and unexpectedly that elimination of this breakdown results in tenderness without aging. These studies indicate new approaches toward practical methods of eliminating the costly aging period in commercially packed frozen birds.

In 1962, Dr. de Fremery received the Poultry Science Association's Travel Award of $1,000 and attended the 12th World's Poultry Congress in Sydney, Australia. He holds AB and PhD degrees from the University of California.

Dr. de Fremery resides at 33 Sunset Drive, Kensington, with his wife Neysa, son Don, Jr., 11, and daughter Corinne, 10.

Mechanics Bank Installs Data Processing Center

A General Electric computer information processing service center for Bay Area business and industry will begin operation here this month at The Mechanics Bank main office, Ninth and MacDonald Ave.

E. M. Downer, Jr., President of The Mechanics Bank, and Warner R. Sinback, Manager of G.E.'s Information Processing Business, made the announcement jointly here today.

According to Downer, Mechanics Bank will be the Center's first customer. The bank will utilize the Center to provide data processing services for its customers, as well as to handle its internal bookkeeping operations.

"Located on the premises, the G.E. Service Center will enable The Mechanics Bank to offer the most up-to-date electronic data processing techniques available to the banking industry today," he said.

"The Center will be managed by John K. Jerrehian, formerly Manager of Machine Services for General Electric's Phoenix, Ariz., Information Processing Center," Sinback said.

The new Center is the ninth in a growing chain of nation-wide General Electric computer service centers. The Centers provide data processing services for businesses which require profressional programming and computer application services.

Customers will include banks, savings and loan associations, construction firms, manufacturers, and high schools, as well as scientific and engineering concerns, wholesale distributors and general businesses. The computer will perform such jobs as demand deposit and savings accounting, payrolls, accounts payable and receivable, sales analysis, Critical Path Method scheduling, school scheduling, grade reporting, linear programming and scientific calculations.

Warning on Bank Examiner Swindle

Savings and loan companies have alerted the Albany police department to a bogus bank examiner scheme, which may be attempted locally.

Elderly people are the victims of the confidence scheme. Here's a typical case:

An 80-year-old woman received a phone call about 11 a.m. from a man who claimed to be a bank examiner. He asked her whether she had an account at a specified bank and how much was in it. She said she did and that there was $3,700 in the account.

The "examiner" then explained that they suspected that one of their tellers was stealing funds. He promised that if she would cooperate in helping to trap him, they would give her a $1,500 bonus.

At 2 p.m. the same day, the woman received a second phone call, requesting that she go to the bank immediately and withdraw $3,300 because the "examiners" wanted to nab the crooked teller that afternoon. They assured her that there would be no difficulty about carrying such a large sum because she would be under police surveillance all the time. The woman agreed to cooperate as requested, withdrew her money and took it home.

Shortly after she returned home, a man arrived flashing a police badge. While talking to the "policeman," the "examiner" phoned and wanted to know if the "policeman" had arrived to safeguard the money.

The "policeman" proceeded to "safeguard" the money by stacking it in an attache case with assurances that he would return soon, with a receipt. Of course, the cooperating woman lost her $3,300, all but $400 of her life savings.

My Word . . .

Berkeley police, helmeted and 50-strong, were ready for the demonstrators at the Berkeley station. Albany police had almost no warning. Chief Ralph Jensen and Inspector Art Smith were criminal-chasing near San Francisco when they heard of it on the patrol car radio. They joined the officers on and off duty who quickly responded to the alarm. Smith and Jensen were in the thick of it by the time the train reached Solano Avenue.

One well-known Albany woman, dressed to the nines for a fancy luncheon in San Francisco, rushed to Solano and Masonic to stand and wave at the soldiers, knowing they'd appreciate some friendly faces. A burly demonstrator called her a dirty name and pushed her.

Officer Gerald Martin saw one female demonstrator get a handhold on one of the cars bearing troops. From inside the train through a raised window came a uniformed arm, pushing her off. She fell sprawling along the right-of-way, came up cursing the soldiers she ostensibly had come to "save."

All along Masonic, residents poured out to wave and give the V-for-Victory sign to the young soldiers, who returned the greeting.

Back at the police station, Officer Bernard Johnson tapped his new crash helmet, saying, "I'm certainly glad we had these today."

Sgt. Jim McLeod agreed, adding, "Mine was nicked a couple of times.'

"It was?" Johnson asked.

"Yeah—by cameras!" McLeod answered. (There were as many cameras and reporters as demonstrators.)

And after all the excitement was over, three young Albany girls were spotted going along the Santa Fe right-of-way with cardboard boxes, picking up the flyers thrown at the train by the demonstrators, who by then had gone back over the line into Berkeley.

AN ALBANY woman brought in this quotation last Thursday afternoon: There are two freedoms—the false, where a man is free to do what he likes; the true, where he is free to do what he ought. It seemed pretty fitting on a day that had shocked many Albany residents to the core.

COUNCILMAN JOE EGENBERGER said Monday night he was horrified to think that the last thing the servicemen on the troop train going through Albany last Thursday morning saw were the faces of the demonstrators trying to stop the train.

ANOTHER TRAIN carrying Vietnam - bound servicemen passed through Albany about 3 p.m. Monday. Berkeley and Albany police were ready for demonstrators, but nothing happened. Rumor has it they were all in a meeting—planning their next move. Let's hope it isn't in Albany!

AND NOW Vince Briganti, Albany's vocal barber, has established "Clear-the-Track committee headquarters" at his barbershop at the corner of Solano and Kains.

SPEAKING OF RIOTS, Virginia Moody's sister, Inez Bartlett of Los Angeles, came up for a visit for a couple of days, received a call from her daughter in Hollywood to stay here because her area is under curfew and she probably couldn't get to her house. Her 16-year-old son, Michael, is with her.

ONE OF THE Great Guys down at OK Used Cars, Johnny Maddox, reports that the other Great Guy, Tim Southwick of San Pablo, is the proud daddy of a baby boy, Timothy Kent Southwick, II, born Wednesday at Alta Bates hospital. He joins a daughter, Stacey, two. Johnny isn't sure the world is ready for another Tim Southwick, but he's here.

LAST FRIDAY morning we attended another one of those one woman-many men types of gatherings we adore. Johnny Maddox was explaining used car guarantees to the salesmen assembled for an outdoor breakfast. He outlined the fine OK guarantee, then defined the Okie guarantee: 90 days or 90 feet, whichever comes first.

JOE DAGNA is remodeling the beverage department at his nice store for nicer people.

THEY CHANGED seniority numbers at the Fire Department on Friday, Aug. 13. Thomas Brennan, whose name includes 13 letters, came up with—you guessed it—No. 13!

70-Year Olds Take Swimming In Adult Ed

by Edward Johnson, Summer Principal

A tour of the Albany Public School Adult Summer Session reveals many interesting concepts of community service, and two things for sure . . . you are never too old to learn, and you can teach an old dog—er, students—new tricks.

Enrolled this summer in the swim class under the direction of Mrs. Audrey Whiteman are two Albany students, Marzio China and Floyd Marshall, both from Ordway Street. Now there is nothing unusual about friends coming to swimming class who live on the same street, but when both are neighbors, retired, and age 70, then we must extend credit where credit is due.

Marshall and China, both recently interviewed by their instructor, reported that it is quite a job to unlearn some of the old strokes like the treddle, and master the new. Incidentally, Mrs. Whiteman, who has been teaching swimming quite a few years herself, reports that the treddle stroke is dated as it isn't described in her library of physical education materials.

How good to know that the summer session serves members of the community from youth to a young age 70, and with registration still open and more time to run, anyone interested in the broad program of summer classes should call 526-6441 days or 525-7131 evenings for counseling. Better yet, drop in on any of the classes at Albany High School, 603 Key Route Blvd., sign up, and get going.

uting leaflets was completely irresponsible, he added. Clark went on to say that the resolution contained quite a few things he doesn't agree with, that he believes it is a political football and being used for political advantage.

"An action like this will further incite people to break the law," he said.

"If inciting is the price of something that has to be done, we shall have to pay the price," Egenberger said.

Councilman Joel Parker spoke of the chaos in Los Angeles, saying, "We all need to be thankful and say prayers because this does not exist in the Bay Area at this time. We should realize there is no reason why this can't be happening here and that a Black Muslim leader has said the same situation will exist in the Bay Area 'tomorrow or the next day.' "

Other Action

In other, more routine, matters Monday night, Council:

HELD OVER until the public hearing Sept. 13, a letter from Arnold Pope, president of Albany Homeowners and Taxpayers association, protesting issuing a permit to build a triplex at 1046 Evelyn;

VOTED to inform Barry Runnion, Jr., chairman of the committee for the Art Show and Merchants Bazaar, on an individual basis whether or not they can attend opening ceremonies;

AUTHORIZED the mayor to proclaim the week of Sept. 6-10 as "Union Label Week;"

REFERRED to Administrative Officer James B. Turner a letter urging withholding approval of bay fill projects until the Bay Conservation and Development commission is in operation Sept. 17;

PASSED unanimously resolutions accepting the resignation of Don Day from the Fire Department effective Aug. 9, and the appointment of Horace Koepke as probationary hoseman in the department, effective Aug. 16.

A letter from four University Village residents protesting the pressure by two Councilmen (Parker and Egenberger) to have "Fact" magazine dropped from the library and cutting the library budget for magazines drew fire from Parker and Egenberger.

Parker defended his position of refusing to spend public money for "a periodical of this nature," pointing out that those who wrote the letter do not pay taxes in Albany.

Egenberger verbally chastised the neighboring newspaper who caused the "ruckus" and which was not represented by a reporter when the original discussion took place.

Donna Shervington Marries Ray Warren in El Cerrito

Donna Jane Shervington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shervington of 611 Spokane, was married to Ray Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Warren of Washougal, Wash., in recent rites at El Cerrito Methodist church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of silk organza with princess silhouette and carriage back. Pearl-embroidered lace was a bodice feature. Her veil fell from a matching bow and she carried a cascade of carnations.

Gail O'Conner was maid of honor. Mrs. Ronald Nichols of Sacramento was bridesmaid. They wre pink frocks and carried cascades of pink, blue and lavender carnations.

Richard Stone was best man with Richard and David Shervington as ushers.

Following a reception at Montclair Womens club, the couple left for a wedding trip to Southern California. They are at home in Santa Rosa, where both are employed by State Farm Insurance.

The bride, a 1965 graduate of Albany High school, attended Oakland City college. Her husband is a graduate of Linfield college in Oregon.

NEW LEGION POST 292 OFFICERS PLAN EVENTS

It is going to be a busy week for Albany Post 292 as Commander Thomas Noonen and his corp of officers pick up activities after the Department convention and vacations.

On Wednesday, Aug. 18, Noonen will head the Post's delegates to Livermore to represent the Post at the first meeting of the Tenth District for the year. Livermore Post 47 will host District Commander J. Robert Locke's first meeting.

The regular meeting of Albany Post will take place Friday, Aug. 20, in the Albany Veterans building at 8 p.m. with Commander Thomas Noonen wielding the gavel. Noonen will present his slate of committee chairmen and committee members for ratification with the exception of Lloyd Rasmussen, first vice commander, and Alvin K. Wilis, second vice commander, who by virtue of their offices become membership and entertainment chairmen respectively. Rasmussen will report that he has received the membership quota from the State Department setting Albany's quota over 400 members to attain before the month of May, 1966.

The first entertainment feature and social event Vice Commander Willis has set up is a family dinner for the past members and auxiliary members and their families Saturday evening, Aug. 21, in the Albany Veterans Memorial building. Social hour, 6:30 p.m. Willis has secured 16 talented performers from the Sons of Norway, "The Norwegian Be-Bops," to stage their show after the dinner in the main auditorium—an entertainment feature that will interest all ages from 9 to 90.

Reservations for the family dinner are being taken by Alvin Willis, 524-6796; Frank McLaughlin, 525-1464; Alvin F. Drozda, 526-5667, and Walter L. Holland, 525-4592.

Dr. Leonard Jurd Receives Honor In Washington

Dr. Leonard Jurd, chemist in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's laboratory in Albany, has earned the Department's Superior Service Award. In the annual ceremony in Washington, D.C., recently he received the award from Secretary Orville Freeman.

Dr. Jurd's work has been basic chemical research on the anthocyanin (red, blue, purple) pigments and closely related but colorless phenolic compounds of fruits and other plant materials. His studies have been published over the past 15 years in 59 scientific papers. The value of such research lies in facts revealed about molecular structure and chemical behavior of these important plant constituents. These facts supply the basis for improver stabilization and increased utilization of farm products.

Through detailed study, for example, Dr. Jurd has explained the reactions involved in sulfite bleaching of pigments in fruit preservation. Another example has been the synthesis of coumestrol and related estrogenic compounds, which occur in minute amounts in forages. Synthesis of coumestrol has made quantities available for pharmacological evaluation. His research has also suggested the use of certain nontoxic, stable compounds as coloring agents for foods.

Dr. Jurd has lectured in several foreign countries and was elected president of the Plant Phenolics Group of North America in 1962. A native of Australia, he received a bachelor's degree from the University of Syuney in 1947 and the doctor's degree from University of Nottingham, England, in 1952, which was followed by three years of postdoctoral research in the University of Liverpool and University of California at Los Angeles. He has worked in the U.S. Department of Agriculture since 1955.

Fire Plug

In recent years there has been considerable development within the City of Albany. Probably contributing most to this development is the multiple dwellings and the multi-story apartments that have replaced many of the older buildings. In the area facing our waterfront, which a short while back was undeveloped, we are beginning to realize an industrial area that is steadily extending. Certainly today Albany has left its crossroads and has set its course on becoming a city that will soon exemplify an All-American City.

Captain Ray Gonzalves of the fire service points out that contrary to the fact that planners many times do not devote sufficien attention to wter supply during expansion or development, Albany is keeping pace by continually adding to its network of hydrants throughout the city.

He praises the location of Albany's 154 hydrants strategically placed so that short hose lays can be employed for fighting fire in any part of the city. Water is so fundamental a factor in fire fighting, continues the captain, that a good water supply is the most important single factor in fire protection. For that reason the fire department is concerned first with the location and conditions of our fire hydrants and then with the adequacy and reliability of water flow from such hydrants in various parts of our community.

In explaining that the fire department continually tests and checks these hydrants to assure efficiency he states that the fire deparment greatly appreciates the type of citizen who contributes to good fire prevention by keeping the fire hydrant clear from parking, or other forms of interference and readily accessible.

DISLIKES SUPERHIGHWAY

Not every superhighway is a time-saver.

A very disgruntled farmer over in England recently filed a strong complaint with the British highway authorities.

He objected to a proposed new highway that would traverse his farmland. He didn't mind fast highways, and he didn't mind the sum he would receive as compensation. But he did object to a seven-mile detour he would have to make every morning just to milk his cows across the road.

If Fire Strikes Your Home...
GET OUT of the house the minute you discover it or smell smoke!
ALWAYS be ready to use different escape routes from any room in your house!
TEST doors before opening. If doors are hot, block them with furniture or wet mattresses to keep out smoke and gases. Get out another way!
NEVER jump from upper-story windows except as a last resort! Wait for firemen.
HOLD your breath if you have to make a dash through smoke and flame!
REMEMBER, the air is usually better near the floor in a smoke-filled room!
CALL the fire department at once! They know how to fight fire. Don't waste your time or your life trying to fight a fire, unless it's so small you're sure you can control it with the right extinguisher.
DON'T ever go back to a burning building for any reason! Smoke and fire gases from even the smallest fire can be deadly.
GET medical treatment at once, if you're burned or exposed to fire and smoke! Seemingly minor burns or smoke inhalation can have fatal results.
DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START!

Now, about those rear-enders. We've discussed the importance of adequate following distances. Here are a few other important reminders.

1. Don't be crowded by the guy behind. Take special pains to encourage him to pass you.

2. Adjust your speed to road conditions. Remember, speed limits were set for optimum conditions, not for night driving, rain or fog.

3. Be a defensive driver. When driving on the freeway you should watch not only the car ahead but the car ahead of the car ahead.

4. Signal your intentions. Keep the fellow off your tail by signaling when you intend to turn, change lanes or make a sudden stop.

5. Give your car a safety-check periodically. Brakes, tires, taillights, etc.

Payless—Lost & Found

I've had problems in my lifetime
I've been too tall and fat.
My feet were big
I couldn't find shoes and I had too much head for my hat.

But the worst, in all this lifetime
I always will deplore,
Were all the awful problems
When I moved the Payless store

They said I'd move in winter
And then they told me "Spring"
But when they said "In Summer"
I felt that I would sing.

So when the day was chosen
E'en that, I almost missed
For in the month of roses
I fell and broke my wrist!!!

Still, even that was bearable
At least, that's what I'll say
The thing that seemed to me
the worst
Was—people lost their way.

I put up signs and signals
Told everyone I knew
That I would be at 913
But even that wa'n't true.

I felt sure where I was going
And put the numbers up
913A—it looked so nice
It overflowed my cup.

But friends, it was too good to last
I'll tell you what I mean
The City Hall done changed it
The number's 915!!

So the problems in my lifetime
Seem small, compared to this
I keep thinking of the pants and coats
And dresses I shall miss.

But folks, don't be discouraged
My word is true and blue
And if you still can't find us
Don't worry—we'll find you.

And so, this poem is ended
I can't find rhyme for more
But I'm sure 'twould be less trouble
Than the time I moved the store.

Bob Dennises Meet Albany Girl Scouts in Mexico

Bob and Jeanette Dennis of Madison Street were vacationing at the Gran hotel in Guadalajara, Mexico, recently.

One day while strolling through the lobby, Bob did a double-take. There registering at the desk was his part-time secretary, Karen Blank.

It turned out that Karen was chaperoning members of Girl Scout troop 2713, who were spending two days in Guadalajara en route to the Girl Scout Cabana near Mexico City.

The 10 girls and their three chaperones were surprised and delighted that night to be serenaded by a wonderful group of 10 Mariachis, hired by the Dennises to entertain them on the balcony of the hotel.

Girls on the trip include Ellen Danner, Judy Jacobseon, Nancie Kester and Wendy Povlika, all of Albany High; Ruth Baker, Karen Baldwin, Sherry Haasoryd, Jody Friedman and Pamela Whitlock, Berkeley High, and Shirley Doeschner, El Cerrito High. Chaperones include Miss Blank, Mrs. Thelma Vickland and Mrs. Shirley Kester.

The Scouts earned two-thirds of their expenses for the 16-day sojourn. In addition to Guadalajara and the Cabana, they planned to spend a week in Mexico City.

They brought crayons and paper pads to present to a children's hospital in Mexico City. An original musical entitled "El Camino Real" was prepared for presentation, depicting major features of California.

Dennises received a note from Karen, which read in part: "I just cannot tell you how much I appreciated your 'gift' to us. The Mariachis were fantastic and the girls are still raving about our private concert. It really was a thrill. Thanks to you and Mrs. Dennis for being so very nice to us. It was great to see you in Guadalajara."

The Dennises returned home Aug. 8. He is principal of Adult Education in Albany.
